

Data protection and sharing of contact details with third parties

The IAS will collect, process, transfer and store delegates personal data only for (i) the preparation and execution of the 9th IAS Conference on HIV Science (IAS 2017) and (ii) the preparation of future IAS and AIDS conferences. Data protection is warranted in accordance with the Swiss Data Protection Act and the Tele Service Data Protection Act. Delegates' personal data will be retained securely and only be accessible on a 'need to know' basis by duly authorized persons.

The data as entered in the conference profile (i.e. full name, date of birth, nationality, full passport details, gender, sexual orientation, serostatus, key population, email, phone, fax, full home address, organisation/affiliation/company details, profession/occupation) will be shared with the following entities and persons (i.e. third parties), in countries which legislation might not ensure an adequate level of data protection:

- the IAS 2017 Registration Department, c/o KIT Group, Switzerland and Germany for the server, of delegates registering for IAS 2017
- the IAS 2017 Accommodation Department, c/o A111, Canada, of delegates booking accommodation for IAS 2017
- the IAS 2017 Programme Submissions (Abstract Submissions) c/o documediaS GmbH (Pharma Service), Germany, of delegates submitting conference programme related applications
- the IAS 2017 Speaker Centre, c/o CTI, Austria and onsite in France during the conference, of delegates presenting at the conference and involved in the conference programme

The delegates herewith irrevocably authorize the IAS to collect, process, transfer and store their personal data to the above listed third parties and authorities. The delegates further expressly acknowledge and agree that any personal data disclosed in connection with the conference profile and registration form will be subject to the laws of the country where it is transferred and may not be covered by Swiss law. The IAS cannot assure delegates that the laws and regulations in the recipient country will necessarily offer the same level of confidentiality or data protection as under Swiss law and may require the above listed third parties and/or authorities to whom the personal data is transferred, to disclose all or any part of the personal data to other authorities or third parties.

The IAS will nevertheless contractually ensure that your personal data will be processed by the above listed third parties to the same extent as it is authorized for itself under Swiss law. The IAS will also ensure that all third parties which will process your personal data have implemented appropriate technical and organisational measures to protect your personal data against accidental or unlawful destruction or accidental loss, alteration, unauthorised disclosure or access, and which provide a level of security appropriate to the risk represented by the processing and the nature of the data to be protected.